

"Help Keep the Young Hearts Beating"

February 2017

Jiang Zi Sheng- 1 Month Old Boy

Last week we received an urgent application for help from the family of this newborn baby boy.

Jiang Zi Sheng developed pneumonia a week after he was born and spent the next 3 weeks in a local hospital. He was not making any recovery and had stopped eating and was becoming increasingly weak. He was transferred to the intensive care department of our partner hospital in Panyu, where he was found to have a heart defect.

Surgery was needed within the next couple of days as he wasn't going to recover without it. However the family had used most of their funds on treating the pneumonia and were now unable to raise the full cost of the heart surgery.

Hopeful Hearts are very happy to be able to support this case, using funds donated by the British School of Guangzhou. We thank them for their continuing support.

We wish Jiang Zi Sheng a full recovery and will update as we get more news on his progress.
