Binh Tho provides education for over 150 children who are disadvantaged in Thu Duc District. Many of the children come from families who have migrated from rural areas of Vietnam to HCMC for a better life. The children at Binh Tho are unable to go to government school for different reasons. Some children do not have the right paperwork (birth certificate, parent ID, area registration cards) and others need to work to support their families. Through the education and training they receive at the school, the students are better equipped to integrate with society.
