

Stop, Speak, Support- Positive relationships at BIS

At BIS we value community, we take great pride in the amazing caring and kind community of learners that we have at the school. An integral part of this successful community is the maintenance of strong relationships based on respect, trust, empathy and social responsibility. We promote pro-social behaviours amongst our student body and have been very successful in this regard. Our students report back to us regularly that they are happy in school and with relationships with one another.

As part of our wellbeing programme, we actively engage in topics to support wellbeing, welfare and wellness. This is based on the PERMAH Framework, which forms the basis of our approach to wellbeing at BIS.

A central part of the framework is relationships, with Year 8 this week we launched the 'Stop, Speak Support' programme through wellbeing. It builds on our ongoing lessons around relationship skills woven throughout wellbeing classes from Year 7 to Year 13. Please check out the presentation delivered to students this week and talk about the topic of relationships at home with your children.

As always, if your child ever has any difficulties with their relationships in school we encourage you to contact your child's Form Tutor for additional support.
