The parents are responsible for the arrival and entry into Switzerland of campers. Securing a visa to allow entry to Switzerland, where necessary, is the responsibility of parents. Beau Soleil Summer Camp declines any responsibility in case of late arrival due to a visa problem or any other necessary documents for entry into Switzerland.

Hazardous activities

While the camp takes all reasonable steps to keep campers safe, parents accept that there is some level of inherent risk in the range of activities provided by Beau Soleil. Information about activities and risk assessment is available from the camp by contacting summercamp@beausoleil.ch

Responsibility for injury, damage, or loss

Beau Soleil Summer camp is not liable for accidents, injuries or damage to property suffered by campers, however so caused. Likewise, the camp cannot accept responsibility for accidents, injuries or damage to property caused by a student to a third party. Campers are responsible for their own belongings while at summer camp. If lost items are found around school, the camp will make reasonable attempts to return them to their owner.

The school cannot accept any responsibility in the case of the loss or theft of money, jewellery, items of clothing and / or other valuable objects which have not been explicitly entrusted to the safe keeping of the school. Parents are jointly and severally liable for any damage caused by campers during the camp.

Behaviour and Conduct

Campers are expected to act responsibly and to follow the Summer Camp rules. Ongoing issues of behaviour will be reviewed by the Head of Summer Camp and may be referred to the Principal. Beau Soleil reserves right to search a camper's room or breathalyse a camper for alcohol if deemed necessary by the Head of Summer Camp for disciplinary reasons. Beau Soleil reserves rights to test a camper for drugs if deemed necessary by the Principal, who will make reasonable efforts to contact parents in advance.

Severe or repeated breaches of camp rules, including but not limited to use of alcohol or drugs, may result in immediate expulsion from the camp, at the sole discretion of the Principal. In such a case no reimbursement will be made, and all fees are due to the school; parents will be required to arrange immediate supervision and collection of the camper.

Medical

Parents are required to complete the health form, which forms part of the terms and conditions for the Beau Soleil summer camp.

Alterations to Programme

Beau Soleil Summer Camp offers a wide range of activities for the campers. The published programme is for guidance and changes might occur for logistic or meteorological reasons.

Force Majeure

Beau Soleil Summer Camp can suspend or even stop, the courses and all other services, in particular the Camp, for reasons of force majeure, natural disasters (e.g. fire, floods, earthquakes, storms), explosions, epidemics, quarantines, sabotage, riots, civil unrest, strikes, war or any other similar circumstances affecting the sustainable operation of the holding of Beau Soleil Summer camp. In case of force majeure, the Parents acknowledge that the inability to provide the services is not attributable to Beau Soleil so that Beau Soleil is not due to provide any reimbursement, even partial. However, Beau Soleil is offering the option to defer to 2025 without penalty.

Applicable law and jurisdiction

Swiss legislation alone is competent to arbitrate any litigation arising from the present contract, regardless of the parents' place of residence or that of a titular bearer of parental authority. Any difficulty arising from the present contract will be settled by the legislation of Canton de Vaud within the Aigle judicial district. The school reserves the right to make changes to the programme, the pricing, and the terms & conditions.
