My School.
My Story.

Each and every person has a unique story to tell. At The Village School, we know the importance of tailoring a rigorous academic curriculum to the student’s individual journey. We create, explore, learn, and collaborate as a family, but everyone brings a unique perspective to the community. We are eager to share our stories with you and hope to hear yours.

Hayden and Asher’s Story...

They giggle with excitement as the chickens run to greet them. It’s feeding time and they’ll head over to the goats next, but the boys love the excited way the birds look at them compared to the laid back goats who rarely leave their sunbathing spots to say hello.

Hayden and Asher are pre-schoolers at The Village School and have spent their entire academic careers in our Finna Learning Center for Early Childhood. They are twins and best friends who love to discover new things about how machines move and foster their love for animals. They enjoy caring for the school goats and chickens as well as playing outside with their friends and classmates. Even though they’re in separate classes they always find time to hang out during school field trips and events.

Both boys look forward to a long career at The Village School and look forward to one day graduating and claiming the title of ‘Village Lifer’ to commemorate their legacies on campus.

Our Village Story...

The Village School was founded in 1966. What started as a small, private nursery school is now a vibrant campus of approximately 1,700 students, from early childhood through high school. Our school initially served 100 students, aged three through five. In 1973, Betty Moore acquired the school and set forth the school’s original mission to “foster excellence through knowledge, character, and integrity,” a guiding legacy that continues to shape the school’s culture of champions.

Today, The Village School inhabits over 28 acres in a residential area of West Houston. The campus consists of more than 337,000 square feet of facilities. In addition, the school recently completed an extensive campus expansion with a new state-of-the-art gymnasium and competitive swim center. Our community of students from over 60 nations shares a commitment to uncommonly high levels of achievement. Our dedicated and caring faculty and staff continue to prepare students for future success at the most prestigious colleges and universities throughout the world. We are fully accredited by the Texas Association of Accredited Private Schools (TAAPS) and the International Baccalaureate Organization (IBO). Village High School is an official International Baccalaureate World School offering the IB Diploma Programme.
